Planet Expands Southern California Presence with Addition of Chenine Lozano

MERIDEN, Conn. – April 2, 2026 – Planet Home Lending, a leading national mortgage lender and servicer, has expanded its footprint in Southern California with the addition of industry veteran Chenine Lozano (NMLS # 1655101) as a Senior Mortgage Loan Officer. Lozano has a strong presence in Southern California communities including Long Beach and Los Angeles, particularly among first responders, veterans, educators and healthcare professionals.

Lozano brings over a decade of mortgage experience and has built a reputation as a trusted advisor known for her attention to detail, strong referral network and commitment to delivering a personalized client experience. After nearly a decade as a mortgage broker, Lozano made the move to Planet to better support her growing client base.

“I reached a point where I had more opportunity than capacity,” she said. “Planet provides the infrastructure, support and resources I need to serve more clients at a higher level without sacrificing the experience they deserve. Planet is uniquely positioned and has the scale and strength of a large organization but still feels personal and accessible. That balance is really important to me.”

Throughout her career, Lozano has developed expertise across a wide range of loan products, including conventional, government, jumbo and non-agency solutions. She is especially passionate about working with first-time homebuyers and helping clients build generational wealth through real estate. Lozano is particularly excited about Planet’s innovative solutions, including renovation lending and Buy Now. Sell Later. programs, which provide added flexibility for today’s homebuyers and homeowners.

“Chenine is an exceptional loan originator who truly puts her clients first,” said Matt Kingsborough, Regional Sales Leader at Planet. “She has all the ingredients to grow significantly, including experience, drive and a genuine commitment to her clients. Her deep product knowledge, strong community connections and passion for helping clients build long-term wealth through homeownership make her a tremendous addition to our Planet team.”

Lozano’s approach centers on education, transparency, and guiding clients through each step of the homeownership journey. Through workshops and educational initiatives, she regularly connects with groups such as law enforcement agencies and local organizations to provide guidance on homeownership and wealth-building strategies.

Lozano also has a background in multi-media journalism and enjoys creating educational mortgage content. She is developing an educational platform designed to help individuals and families better understand real estate as a path to financial growth.
